

Mugshot: Merissa Lawson, Immediate Past President

This is my absolute favorite mug – it's faded from being washed so many times, but I smile every time I use it. My brother and I grew up watching Saturday Night Live and were absolutely obsessed with Wayne's World (hey, we were teenagers!). We watched all the SNL episodes – and even the movies – and we still quote some of the best lines (though we are definitely no longer teenagers). This mug makes me think of staying up late, laughing and being goofy with my big brother.

Mugshot: Rachael Walker, President-Elect & Education Chair

I like cats and it was buy-one-get-one-free at World Market, so I got one for my sister-in-law.

Mugshot: Dan Moody, Membership Chair

My brother, who lives back in my home state of Idaho, sent this as a surprise birthday present one day and it became my favorite over a generic Target mug that was being previously used.

Mugshot: Emily Glesias, Communications Chair

Why it's my favorite: Isn't it obvious?! Every morning I sit back, enjoy my Tea-Tex mug and watch the magic happen! It's a good reminder that under the right conditions, anything can reveal its secrets - which, actually, can be a great metaphor for prospect research! (Even if all you find after digging are just skeletons.) The best part of having this mug is watching the confusion on my coworkers faces when I sit down with a fossil mug at the beginning of my meeting and by the end its transformed back into colorful dinosaurs!

Mugshot: Teresa Pezdek, SC Regional Representative

I love that it is pink, I love the message (the world always needs more kindness), and I love that it was a gift from one of my favorite people – my sister!

Mugshot: Amy Jackson, NC Regional Representative

This is my favorite mug because it reminds me of my love for music and my previous life as a music teacher. I love the fun handle that's shaped like a musical note, and it was a great find at one of my favorite antique places in Charlotte before they closed a few years back. Plus, the year on the bottom of the mug is the same year I was born!

Mugshot: Emily Hinz, Treasurer

These are my Tabasco mugs. I found each of them at different Goodwills at different times. The red one came to me first - as a hot sauce lover, I had to have it. When I saw the green one, years later, I thought it would make a great companion. I like to think they are buddies and chat it up in the cabinet together when not in use.

Mugshot: Mimi Slade, Secretary

This is my favorite mug because I got it on a trip years ago, and it is always fun to start the day thinking about that trip. It is also the perfect size to have a couple of cups. Even though this saying is a little cliché and overdone, it is always a good reminder to keep going.

Mugshot: Jennifer Vincent, President

While this mug is not the flashiest or funniest mug in my cabinet, I reach for it more than any other. It has a great feel to it. It's heavy and large and keeps the coffee hot, while fitting perfectly in my hands. Best part of all, this mug was handmade for me by one of my brothers.

Now it's your turn – show us your #ApraCarolinasMugshot on Twitter or LinkedIn!